ABOUT THE LIBRARY

The Foreign Relations of the United States series presents the official documentary historical record of major U.S. foreign policy decisions and significant diplomatic activity. The series, produced by the State Department's Office of the Historian, comprises more than 570 books of invaluable historical information.

The series began in 1861 during Abraham Lincoln's administration, under the title of Papers Relating to the Foreign Relations of the United States, and continues until the administration of Ronald Reagan. In 1947, the title changed to Foreign Relations of the United States: Diplomatic Papers. Finally in 1969, the name was shortened to its present form, Foreign Relations of the United States.

The Foreign Relations volumes contain documents from various Presidential libraries, the Department of State and Defense, the National Security Council, the Central Intelligence Agency, the Agency for International Development, and other foreign affairs agencies as well as the private papers of individuals involved in formulating U.S. foreign policy.

Foreign Relations of the United States offers researchers a rare glimpse into the history of this great nation's foreign policies and decisions. Legal scholars of all professions will find value in this extensive resource!
