

Annals of Air and Space Law

AVAILABLE EXCLUSIVELY FROM HEIN!

The Annals of Air and Space Law is a journal produced and published by the Institute and Centre of Air and Space Law, Faculty of Law, McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

Established in 1976, the Annals is devoted to fostering the free exchange of ideas and information pertaining to the law applicable to aerospace activities.

The Annals has been publishing original articles, drafted in English or French, covering the entire spectrum of domestic and international air law and the law of space applications. The contributors are academics and leading practitioners from all parts of the world.

This hardcover publication has become a standard source of reference in the fields of air and space law and will be found in most academic libraries, government and airline offices and specialized law offices.

The Annals is distributed in more than one hundred countries worldwide.

About McGill Institute and Centre of Air and Space Law

McGill University's Institute of Air and Space Law (IASL) is the world's premier academic setting for teaching and research in the dual disciplines of international air law and space law. Since 1951, the Institution has trained 1,000 specialists in air and space law from all over the world. Today, the IASL is the most prominent and decorated educational and research institution in the world. Its loyal graduates today serve in some of the highest legal positions in the bar, the industry, and governmental institutions.

The Centre for Research in Air and Space Law (CRASL) was established in 1951. The Centre publishes leading literature in both disciplines including the Annals of Air and Space Law (founded in 1976), treatises, monographs, and occasional papers. Over the past 30 years, a team of researchers, selected primarily from among the Institute's graduates and students, and aided and supervised by McGill professors, has undertaken multidisciplinary research on technical, economic, policy and legal implications of a variety of aviation and aerospace issues.
